Before the intervention

A RED score means the child is working below age expectations and may benefit from Talk Boost. Children in this red band require close monitoring and possible referral to a speech and language therapist.

An AMBER score means the child is working towards age expectations but would benefit from Talk Boost.

A GREEN score means the child is working at age expected levels and you should continue with quality first teaching and monitoring.

If a child's overall score is age appropriate but they are scoring very low on a single section they may benefit from further observations, investigations or from a targeted or specialist intervention to develop their skills in this area.

It's good practice to continue monitoring all children, as difficulties with language may not always be apparent.

After the intervention

A RED score means the child is working below age expectations. We strongly recommend that you carry out further investigation and referral to a speech and language therapist may be required.

An AMBER score means the child is working towards age expectations. They would benefit from continued monitoring and targeted support within the setting using the approaches introduced in the intervention. If they have not made progress in scores following the intervention, referral to a speech and language therapist should be considered.

A GREEN score means the child is working at age expected levels and you should continue with quality first teaching and monitoring.
